

Cooperative Forestry Funding UW Center for Cooperatives

Eligible Projects

The University of Wisconsin Center for Cooperatives is inviting proposals to receive $5,000-$25,000 to fund development of Wisconsin-based cooperatives or cooperative groups (e.g. associations, networks, informal collaborations) in these areas:

- Forest management
- Forest-related products
- Biomass energy
- Forest-owner policy initiatives
- Support for existing forestry cooperatives or associations

Eligible Applicants*

Recipients of these funds are limited to:

- non-profit organizations
- cooperative organizations

*Please note that in previous years UW/County Extension offices were encouraged to apply. Given the reorganization of UW Extension within UW-Madison, we can no longer award grant funds to UW/County Extension. However, Extension offices and agents can be partners on projects and otherwise support other types of applicants.

Cost Share

Applicants must match at least 50% of the grant funds received. This match can be in the form of money, in-kind services, or both. It may not include money received from the State of Wisconsin. In-kind services paid for by State funds (i.e. DNR or Extension employee salaries) are also not eligible to be counted.

For example, a project that requests $5,000 in grant funding must provide a minimum of $2,500 in match. A project that requests $25,000 in grant funding must provide a minimum of $12,500 in match.

To Apply

Please send a description of your proposed project (2 to 4 pages) and letters of commitment from individuals or organizations providing in-kind match by February 16, 2024 to Kelly Maynard, University of Wisconsin Center for Cooperatives, kelly.maynard@wisc.edu, 608-262-9751. Your 2-4 page project description should include:

- Background information about the organization doing the project
- Description of the need/opportunity for the project
- Description of partnerships that will help with project implementation or be developed as a result of the project
- Specific project deliverables
